

P037257/WO/1

DaimlerChrysler AG

Abstract

A regulatable spring-and-damper system in a vehicle comprises a passive spring element (5) and a damping element (9) which is mounted in parallel and is configured with a damping characteristic that can be regulated in a variable manner and is determined by comparison with a reference system (1) that can be actively regulated.

Figure 1